LIVING IN POLARISED SOCIETIES

How does rising political polarisation in our societies affect the way we live together, build community, and nurture our spiritual lives?

We will explore how deepening divisions in our societies influence trust, belonging, and our capacity to engage compassionately with one another.

Guided by three experts who work at the intersection of leadership, conflict resolution, and community wellbeing, we will reflect on what we can do to navigate these difficult times—both individually and as a community.
